

Keeping Kids In Mind

2 DAY FACILITATOR TRAINING

Lewisham

Parents love their children and want the best for them. However, after separation, parenting often gets much tougher.

Keeping Kids in Mind (KKIM) is an evaluated, 5 week psycho-educational course for separated parents who are experiencing on-going medium to high levels of conflict. The course is designed to assist parents:

- see through their children's eyes the experience of parental separation
- step away from their conflict
- focus on rebuilding a secure base for their children.

The Keeping Kids in Mind Facilitator training has been designed for experienced practitioners such as parent educators, counsellors and mediators.

The 2 day training package is interactive and challenging. Participants will gain an understanding of the content of the course as well as having an opportunity to practise presenting aspects of the course and develop their group facilitation skills. Please note the Keeping Kids in Mind course requires two trained facilitators.
